PENINSULA'S VOTING SETS NEW RECORD

35,420 of County's

Cast Ballots

Shattering all previous interest in local and national elections, San Mateo county Tuesday cast an 84.6 per cent vote.

This record interest was shown today when County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman completed the semi-official tally of Tuesday's ballots. A 65 per cent vote has heretofore been considered to show "lively interest."

San Mateo county cast 35,420 ballots, besting the all-time mark of the August primary by 3,000. The vote in the primary was 32,495. There are still approximately 350 "absentee" ballots to be counted.

The county's registration for the November general election was 41,865.

School Dedicated Here; Big Crowd Sees Ceremonies

Parents, members of Redwood City of Native Sons, and others interested in Redwood City's elementary school district turned out in large numbers for the dedication Sunday of the new Jefferson school on Eagle hill.

Laying of the Native Sons' plaque in the entrance of the $66,000 structure by Seth Millington, grand president of the Native Sons, marked the climax of ceremonies which included a program in McKinley school auditorium.

Following the impressive rites Superintendent John Gill, Principal Homer Spellenberg and members of the teaching staff conducted visitors about the new building, unusual features of which are a novel kindergarten department and two semi-indoor playground areas in addition to modern instruction rooms.

John W. Poole, president of the board of trustees, presided at the ceremonies. Speakers were Mayor W. J. Dusel, Roy W. Cloud, County Superintendent of Schools Pansy Jewett Abbott, Justice Emmett Seawell and Seth Millington.

Musical numbers included songs by the 881 Glee Club of McKinley school and the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Phillips following the presentation of the flag to the new school and the placing of the plaque.

The dedication of the Jefferson school was the opening event in Redwood City of National Education Week, November 7-12.

Old Jail Will Be Transient Shelter

Use of the abandoned county jail building on the Broadway extension by the Redwood City citizens' employment relief committee for the care of transients this winter was approved by the board of supervisors this week.

Henry Witte, a member of the citizens' committee, made the appeal to the board, and approval was given on motion of Supervisor John W. Poole, Redwood City.

Woman Struck by Auto; Leg Broken

The automobile of Frank Smith, 20, of 114 Park road, Burlingame, struck and injured Mrs. Bertha Vaucher, 65, of 530 Larkin street, San Francisco, at Fell and Market streets, San Francisco Monday.

The woman's left leg was broken. Mrs. Gladys Wilkerson of this city has been granted a final decree of divorce from Roy C. Wilkerson on the ground of willful neglect, in the court of Superior Judge George H. Buck.

Beach Menaced By Radio Firm On S. M. Coast

Request of the Mackay Radio and Telegraph Company to close the road leading into the John Meyn ranch on the coastline near Lobitas to prevent automobiles from passing over the ranch because of interference in reception was put over one week by the supervisors Monday.

Attorney Elinor Falvey presented the company's request. George Royden, division engineer of the company, said ignition sets in automobiles would cause serious interference in receiving messages.

James S. James, county surveyor, said to close the road would cut off the public from one of the best beaches on the coast. Supervisor T. L. Hickey expressed belief the company should grant a right of way for a road somewhere across the property.

James also expressed a belief that the proposal should be passed upon by the planning commission.

Royden said that the company plans a $100,000 investment and it was the only available site on the coast.

The matter was referred by the board to the planning commission, which meets Thursday.

GIRL DEAD FOLLOWING AUTO CRASH

A peninsula girl is dead and her companion is held in jail for alleged drunken driving, as the result of a fatal mishap in Burlingame Sunday.

The dead girl is Miss Edna Wright, 18, of Fuller's Cottage, South San Francisco, who died of a broken neck. Her companion, Willard Hoffschmidt, 23, of 340 Baden avenue, South San Francisco, driver of the car, faces charges of manslaughter and drunken driving. He was booked at the Burlingame jail.

Bernice Hoffschmidt, 17, his sister; Amelia Fornesi, 19, same address; Lawrence Garney, 182 Baden avenue, South San Francisco, were treated for cuts and bruises.

Police reported that Hoffschmidt attempted to turn the car into a telephone pole and crashed into a telephone pole and street light standard.

Miss Wright and Garney were in the car when it struck the pole. The car struck the pole on the pavement on her head. She was killed instantly.

Miss Wright's father, Jason Wright, told police his daughter had gone on the party that preceded her death over his protests.

Drainage District Delay is Granted

The city of Atherton Monday voiced its opposition to the formation of the proposed Las Lomas-Atherton Drainage District and won a delay on the project when the board of supervisors referred the matter to District Attorney Edmund Spott to clear up certain legal questions involved.

Arthur H. Redington, city attorney of Atherton, presented a petition signed by 34 residents of that community asking that their names be withdrawn from the petition filed heretofore asking formation of the proposed district.

The board approved the withdrawal.

Attorney Wayne Millington, representing the petitioners, said that at least 100 names remained, making the petition sufficient for the board to act upon.

Surveyor James S. James presented estimates fixing the cost of the whole project at $200,000, but suggesting the immediate carrying out of only a primary program to cost $130,000 could be done whenever urgent, James said.

'Bottleneck' Job Will Begin Shortly

Clyde Healy, San Francisco assistant engineer, and Supervisor T. L. Hickey, South San Francisco, told the members of the board of supervisors yesterday that work is expected to get underway shortly on the Daly City highway widening project. They reported the state had promised $25,000 more to help finance the project, which will cost a million.

COSTA WILL FILED
John W. Costar, 916 Morrell avenue, Burlingame, now has on file with County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman a petition for probate of the will of his mother, Mrs. Isabel Costa, formerly of Chico, who died in this county August 17, last. The estate will not exceed $10,000.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL SET TODAY

No House to House
Solicitations
This Year

With the Lions Club in charge again as one of its national objectives and under the chairmanship of Thomas J. Cutting, the annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross gets under way in Redwood City today. The campaign to secure the enrollment of every man and woman of the community in this great order of mercy will continue for two weeks—until Thanksgiving Day, November 24.

There will be no house-to-house canvass this year. The Roll Call committee feels that a campaign of this kind will not be necessary, as the people are fully convinced of the urgent needs of the Red Cross at this time and will support the local chapter through subscribing to the membership rolls.

While no house-to-house canvass will be conducted, every other effort will be employed to reach the people of Redwood City and the adjoining territory within the local chapter's jurisdiction and urge them to again join the Red Cross. Booths will be erected at various prominent places in the business district, which will be in charge of Red Cross women workers, assisted by Boy Scouts, and where the people will be given the opportunity to enroll in the organization. The committee workers will contact as many of the present members of the local chapter as possible and secure their renewal of allegiance. Appeals are being made to all the service clubs, the churches, lodges and other organizations in the city and their cooperation in making this year's Roll Call a success.

Need of Red Cross

In the past year of world-wide economic turmoil the Red Cross has extended aid to millions of men, women and children, victims of unemployment, of drought, flood, tornado and other major causes of distress. It has administered one of the nation's greatest relief tasks, the distribution of 40 million bushels of government wheat as flour and feed for livestock. These wheat products have gone to more than two and a half million needy families of 48 states. Redwood City has had its share of this flood, the greater part of which was distributed last winter through a committee headed by Zeph T. Thorning and Carl B. Stoner.

Services to war veterans and their families and in the field of health have kept pace with the increased demand.

This year, faced with overwhelming demands, with national and chapter sources seriously depleted, it is imperative that the Red Cross have greatly increased support. The local chapter under the chairmanship of Mrs. Zeph T. Thorning, is working with the Redwood City unemployment relief committee in providing food and clothing for the needy of the community. Under the chairmanship of Mrs. George Hopkins, sewing units have been formed in Redwood City and several hundred women are busily engaged in converting cotton material into available winter clothing for the local chapter by the National Red Cross into wearing garments for use during the winter months. In addition to this work, the chapter here has requisitioned a large quantity of underwear, hosiery and other clothing to be distributed to worthy families. The Red Cross is doing everything within its power to relief distress during the coming winter caused by the unemployment situation.

Membership Costs

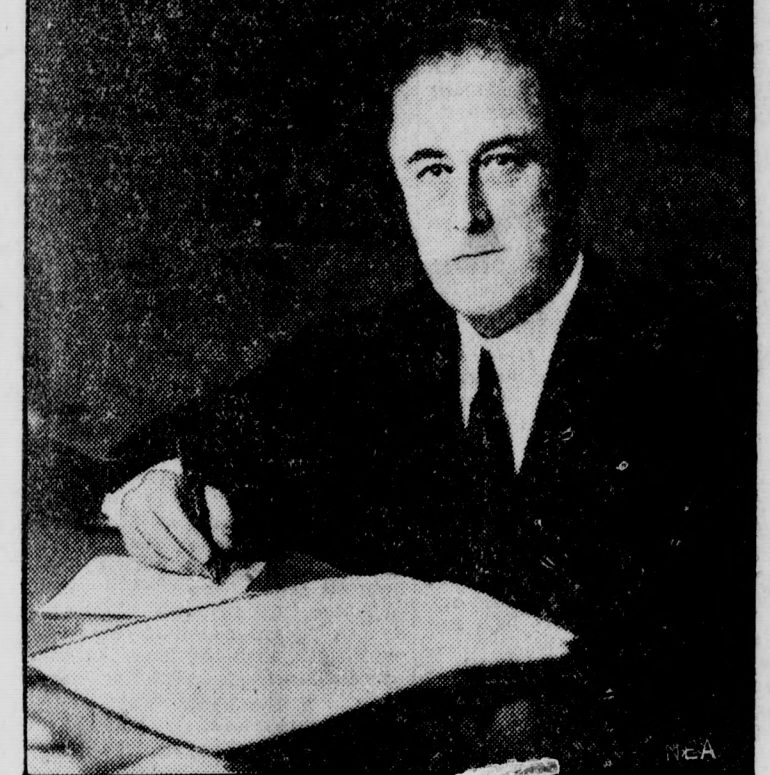

Enrollment in the Red Cross costs one dollar a year. There are contributing memberships at $5; sustaining memberships at $10 and supporting memberships at $25. Fifty cents of each membership only goes to the support of the National Red Cross, the balance is retained by the local chapter for its own relief work. Checks may be mailed in care of the Lions Club Roll Call committee, Redwood City.

Co. Clerk's Office Speeds Vote Returns

Returns authentically telling the results of the election the day before were available for the first time by morning yesterday as a result of an all-night count engaged in by County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman and staff.

A new system was put in effect this time, so that each adding machine was devoted exclusively to taking the county on one candidate. This gave the county-wide total as it progressed. Newspapersmen also worked all through the night to break up the county vote by cities and precincts.

TO GUIDE OUR DESTINY

Franklin D. Roosevelt, victorious president-elect, who won the chief executive post by an overwhelming margin at the polls Tuesday, when a Democratic landslide gave that party complete control of both houses of Congress.

Ramblers Win P.B.L. Opener Over Mt. View

Half a dozen field goals in the second half by Bus Walker, star guard, enabled the Stanford Ramblers of Burlingame to pull out in front of the Mountain View quintet and win by a final score of 34 to 24 in their Peninsula Basketball League opener at Mountain View Tuesday night.

The Ramblers were held to a close count, 16 to 14, at half time but hit a fast pace in the final period.

The Burlingame team is defending champion of the league this year but will face heavy competition from San Jose, Campbell and Palo Alto as well as from the Redwood City Eagles, who lost the deciding contest of a three-game title series to the Ramblers last season.

Belmont Water Bond Election Due Dec. 22nd

BELMONT, Nov. 10.—The people of Belmont will go to the polls on December 22, to determine whether or not they will bond themselves to pay $45,000 for a water system. The date was set last evening at the meeting of the Belmont county water district, when the resolution was voted on after the motion was made by Errett Sacket, commissioner.

The report of Engineer W. W. Hendricks, setting forth the cost of the main reservoir, tanks, pumping plant, and connecting pipe lines for the proposed improvement, was also acted on by the commissioners.

A resolution, prepared by Attorney Charles N. Kirkbride, showing the area to be benefited by the proposed bond issue was also voted on.

A DOG IN PEN, 2 AT LARGE?

By ALMA ARCHER

In case you're a little weary now of playing tackle at every crucial moment when your dog lunges at some harmless delivery boy, meter-reader or visitor, it might be a good idea to put a good portable, wire kennel-run on your Christmas list. Even a child can put this wire fencing up, but if no child is about, do it yourself. The legs just stick into the ground, and the corners are clipped together. When the lawn is well tramped into oblivion, just move the kennel to greener fields. Offhand, it's safe to estimate that a good climbing variety of police dog won't master the imbroglio with the fence for, say, two weeks.

Plans to Help Local Jobless Are Given Out

Announcement of the prospective establishment of a state forest in San Mateo county to take care of 100 jobless men, provision of the Redwood City district's full quota of Red Cross flour and acceptance of Sequoia Union High School's offer to stage a play December 2 and 3 to furnish part of the funds needed to make the flour into bread were developments at this week's meeting of the Redwood City committee on unemployment relief.

County Fire Warden Bert L. Werder, a member of the local committee, said that the county will be used in building fire trails, clearing brush and otherwise carrying out a fire prevention campaign in San Mateo county in a co-operative move between the county and state.

Following a conference on Tuesday with Frank Thompson of Palo Alto, forestry service supervisor of the central coast counties district, Werder said that final details are being worked out by the officials of the state and county camp will be opened after rains make it possible for forestry service men to be withdrawn from present fire areas.

T. J. Hallinan, chairman of the local relief committee, reported that requisitions for flour forwarded by Mrs. Z. T. Thorning of the local Red Cross chapter for a full allotment of government flour with the understanding that the committee undertake the financing of making it into bread, had been granted by the committee per loaf.

Sponsoring of the play, "Shadows of Broadway," to be presented by a high school cast under the direction of C. A. Van Patten, was accepted by the relief group on motion of chairman Carl B. Stoner as a means of raising money for the bread fund. Total net receipts will go to the unemployment relief coffers.

Use of the old county jail building at Broadway and Spring street for emergency shelter purposes has been granted to the committee by the board of supervisors, it was announced by John Morrish, nursing chairman. Morrish said needed repairs on the building can be made by unemployed labor at small cost.

Request for clothing in good condition was made by Herman Phillips, clothing relief chairman. He announced that the store at 234 Main street will be open twice a week to receive and distribute apparel. The committee will meet Friday to approve requisitions and will issue apparel Saturday from 2 to 5.

Elmer M. Rowland, registrar of unemployed, offered the following weekly report: Number of men registered, 371; number of men placed, 20; new registrations, 8; hours worked, 448; days worked, 56; days by county, 24; days by city, 27; odd jobs, 5; permanent jobs, none; cases removed from list, 59.

Mrs. F. A. Reuter Stricken Fatally

Mrs. Florence May Reuter, a resident of the Barron tract, Palo Alto, passed away yesterday afternoon at a San Jose hospital. She lived in Atherton for two and a half years, before removing to Palo Alto about a year ago.

She was the wife of Frank A. Reuter, and she leaves no other relative. She was a member of Liberty Chapter No. 413, Order of the Eastern Star, in Cleveland, Ohio.

The funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Layng & Tinney Funeral Home. The obsequies will be under the auspices of Sequoia Chapter No. 203, O. E. S. of Redwood City.

During the 1931 planting season at Kentsia state forest in Kentucky 41,000 seedlings were planted.

HOOVER TO LEAVE FOR EAST TODAY

Unexpected Change
In Schedule Is Announced

PALO ALTO, Nov. 11—President Hoover announced today that he would leave for Washington late this evening instead of on Saturday, as previously planned.

The change in plans was revealed by Lawrence Richey, Mr. Hoover's secretary, who said the president wanted to be in Washington early next Wednesday morning.

"The president is anxious to be back at work not later than Wednesday," Richey said. "He wants to get there on that day particularly, and we are working on a schedule now that will put him in Washington around 10 a. m. Wednesday."

Richey did not explain why the President wanted to be at the White House that day, but remarked "he would rather wait a day at this end than on the other."

Richey said no plans had been made for a conference between Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, president-elect, and Hoover.

"Of course, anything is possible," he added, "but so far the president has not considered a conference or taken any steps along those lines."

The president's train will leave Palo Alto about 10 p. m. tomorrow, making an eight-minute stop at Glendale the following morning, and arriving in Los Angeles about 9 a. m. Mr. Hoover may speak briefly from the platform at Los Angeles.

The sudden change in plans came as a surprise here, and there was considerable wondering as to the reason for the president's desire to be in Washington on Wednesday. The president will remain at his home tomorrow, Armistice Day, and will participate in no programs. He sent a message to Washington to be read there.

By HENRY F. MISSEWITZ
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOOVER HOME, PALO ALTO, Nov. 10. (UP)—Definitely relieved at his lightened responsibilities since the Democratic victory, President Hoover devoted himself to leisure today.

The chief executive was disappointed deeply at his defeat, but indicated he was glad the strain of the uncertainty was over. He was eager to take a rest.

He was represented as being impatient to become again a private citizen in the country he had led for the past four years. He will seek to turn the nation's business over to President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt in the best possible condition next spring—willing that another try to "make it work."

Mr. Hoover indicated he intended to remain until tomorrow evening at his Palo Alto home, resting. The change is novel for the president, it was admitted, and for a man high strung and just at the close of a hard battle, idleness did not come readily or easily.

He had hundreds of telegrams and messages to acknowledge, and other routine business to handle, but in the main he told reporters, the president's routine at his comfortable Spanish home here was far from the rigorous schedule he insisted on maintaining in Washington.

Chance To Relax
"I'll probably take a ride through these familiar mountains and valleys," the president told reporters, "but, aside from that there's not a thing on the calendar. And I should think you'd be ready for a few days off to take it easy yourselves."

"We wouldn't have to worry about your doing something?" a reporter asked.

"No, you wouldn't have to worry," Mr. Hoover replied as he pulled on his cigar.

The president's secretary, Lawrence Richey, has arranged for regular press conferences twice a day at the Hoover home, but the president said he would have to be "let off" as he was on vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover have spent much of their time with their sons, Allan and Herbert, Jr., and Peter and Peggy Ann, their grandchildren.

ALL AMERICANS NOW!

The people of the United States have left no doubt as to their will in this campaign. It is an overwhelming victory both national and state for the Democrats. And now as the smoke of political battle rolls away, we become just plain every-day citizens again, all working for the good of the republic.

There should never be any aftermath of bitterness following political campaigns. The verdict of the ballot box is final, and the right of the people to decide upon candidates and issues is the great principle upon which our government rests.

We believed, and still believe, that the Republican administration has used every sound remedy to bring about our economic recovery. And we believe that the country is already out of the "slough of despond" and well on the way to firm ground again.

It is a splendid opportunity for the Democrats, and all signs point to a remarkably successful administration for Mr. Roosevelt. He has a united government behind him, and has the full endorsement of the people.

But we cannot expect Mr. Roosevelt or anyone else to perform miracles. We cannot simply sit back and let him carry the burden. Our rapid return to prosperity depends upon each and every one of us.

For another four years, there should be no parties or factions, so far as our national affairs are concerned. We are all good Americans working together shoulder to shoulder for the good of our country. In that spirit, and that only, we can accomplish miracles.

'GIVING THANKSGIVING' FEATURE IS PLANNED BY CONGREGATIONALISTS

The First Congregational Church of Redwood City will hold a "Giving Thanksgiving" service on Sunday morning, November 20, with many colorful and unusual features to emphasize that the real spirit of Thanksgiving is giving. Everyone who attends church that morning will have to pay admission. But the price is only an apple or an orange or a potato, and the proceeds will be packed and distributed to the less fortunate families of the community.

Furthermore, the members of the church are assembling baskets of food and Thanksgiving dinner "fixings" which will be carried down the aisles of the church, that morning, in solemn procession and stacked around the altar. Turning an altar into a grocery store, it is pointed out by the committee in charge, is no desecration; rather, "it is a consecration, emphasizing that, while the altar is sacred to the service of God, such service is most acceptable to Him when it is given for others—for the sick, the infirm, the unfortunates, especially for those who are carrying on bravely amid reverses which resulted through no fault of their own."

According to the Rev. Norman W. Pendleton, pastor of the church, everyone from the oldest member to the tiniest child will have a share in making this service a real giving and a cause of thanksgiving. The tots and older children of the Sunday school, the Young People's organization, the Circle and the Women's Guild, representing the women, the Bible school, and the Go-to-Church Men's Club will all be represented in the procession, a pageant of bounty, bearing gifts to the altar.

It will recall the great harvest festivities of long ago, except that this bounty is for others. It will recall, too, the parables of Christ, the leaves and fishes, and the widow's mite, for the tiniest gift is acceptable and plays a worthy part.

The sermon for the day will be preached on the text, "Silver and Gold Have I None; but Such as I Have Give I Thee." Acts 3:6.

The men's committees in charge are handling such details as co-ordination of efforts of the various participating organizations, the pageant itself, and the packing and distribution of the baskets among worthy recipients. John Gill is general chairman and the separate offices and committees are: Secretary, Sanford B. Dole; Guild and Circle (Women's) Co-operation, Louis Behrens, chairman; Dr. N. C. Cummings, C. M. Doss; Bible School Co-operation, A. C. Arge, chairman; H. H. Duncan, Clifton Woodhams; Packing and Distribution, Leo De Moss, chairman; William Boos, Sanford B. Dole, F. W. Harden, George Hopkins, W. H. Pfafflin, J. L. Pipkin, and Publicity, Charles L. Huyck.

Burlingame Man Is Wounded in Seattle

Guy F. Pease, 37, former Burlingame lumber man, was reported in a critical condition in Seattle Sunday following a mysterious shooting Saturday night. Pease lived at 505 Bayswater avenue. He left three days ago to seek employment in the Pacific northwest.

The Associated Press reported that Pease was found wounded on the Seattle waterfront and that he told police that he had been shot while fighting off two Filipinos who robbed him of $25.

'Love Pirates of Hawaii' Pleases Large Audience

BY STAFF REVIEWER

Another capacity audience attested to the popularity of Sequoia Union High School musical production Saturday evening at the presentation of Otis M. Carrington's "Love Pirates of Hawaii," under the direction of the composer.

"Love Pirates" proved to be a pleasing vehicle for the solo voices as well as for the two large chorus groups, which caught the enthusiasm of Mr. Carrington from the orchestra pit and flashed it back to the large audience by the media of his easy Hawaiian melodies.

For their singing, particularly in "Tell Me What," "Oh, Is That So," and "Pirating" in the first act, and for their dramatic work as well, Eleanor Woodcock and Saxon Downs scored as principals.

Lorraine Read as Lehua, Hawaiian maid, was given one of the most beautiful songs of the opera in her "Simply Say Aloha" in the second act, and with the girls' chorus received hearty applause.

Aside from her comic gestures in burlesquing the staid role of Miss Primer, strict head of a girls' school, Lorraine Bullivant revealed excellent tones in her two selections.

Hugo Endrige, pirate chief, enjoyed complete dominance on the stage for his bass solo, "My Castle In an Unknown Sea," and his acting was equally effective in a love scene with Miss Primer.

Then came the final triumph of Downs, in his authentic characterization of a young marine officer, marching in smartly at Miss Woodcock's "Old Flag of Mine" to "rescue" the girls' school from the pirates. The finale of the second act, "the visions of dreamland," are destined to linger in musical memories until "Love Pirates" is called back to Redwood City again.

Effectiveness of the production was due in large measure to the setting created for it by the play production class of Claude A. van Patten. It combined an Hawaiian garden scene with perfect panoramic detail.

Plans of Phi Chi Club Include Christmas Cheer for Children, Veterans

SAN CARLOS, Nov. 11.—An ovation that perhaps will linger in the memories of many, was extended Tuesday afternoon at San Carlos, to President Herbert Hoover, on his tour down the peninsula to his home on the Stanford campus.

Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, with their colors, stood at "attention" as the Republican candidate proceeded through San Carlos. Business houses had their machines and places of trade decorated and hundreds of supporters came out to pay their homage to the president.

Edward Burton, Troval Newhiter and Robert Castagnino, were in the front of the parade. The Cheyenne Friendly Indian tribe to the place at the Young Men's Christian Association football program held on Saturday at Stanford. In the 11-year old group Castagnino tied for second place in passing for accuracy; in the 12-year old group Burton tied for second place for punting and Newhiter tied for third place in passing for accuracy.

The local tie received 670 points for their award for fine sportsmanship. Several mothers of the San Carlos boys aided in the transportation of the boys. "If parents of the boys could only see such an affair in action they would be thoroughly sold to the value which comes from such work with the boys," remarked one San Carlos mother.

Delucchi-Decia Wedding Proves Brilliant Affair

Gowned in a wedding dress of white satin, with a long train, and wearing a veil of the madonna type, Miss Virginia Delucchi made as beautiful a bride as this city has seen for some time, when she was married to Alfred Decia of San Francisco, in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Father William Flannigan Monday afternoon at the Our Lady of Mount Carmel church.

The bride's bouquet was of gardenias and orchids, in the muff style, with streamers of lilies-of-the-valley.

Completing a color scheme carefully worked out to form an attractive ensemble, were the two bridesmaids, Miss Alvina Rossetto and Mrs. Adolph Zaccante. The former wore a blue dress and carried a colonial bouquet of Cecil Bruener roses and forget-me-nots; and Mrs. Zaccante, dressed in pink, carried a similar bouquet.

The bride was given away by her grandfather, Gaetano Casaretto, who took the place of her father, Joseph Delucchi on account of the latter's having received a slight foot injury the day before the wedding.

Reception Held Henry Decia, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Louis Decia, another brother, and Victor Decia, a cousin. All were clad in formal tuxedos.

Following the ceremony, which took place at 4 o'clock, a reception was held at Odd Fellows' Hall, where many of the 250 guests who attended the wedding, greeted the bride and groom.

The newly married couple will go to Portland for their wedding trip, and will make their home in San Francisco.

Mrs. Decia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Delucchi of El Camino Real, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Decia, of San Francisco, where both he and his father are engaged in business.

The club is planning on participating in all of the inter-Pioneer Club activities. Glenn Fischer is the assistant leader of the club and also will be in charge of a group of the boys who are interested in music. It is hoped a band for boys 12 to 15 years of age will be organized.

Although this group was set up to serve the boys especially who live in the Jefferson school district it will not be limited to these.

History of SAN MATEO COUNTY

By CHARLES H. PRIOR

ARTICLE III The Indian "Sweat Houses"

The Digger Indians, like other primitive peoples, had their medicine men who looked after the mental and physical health of their tribes or groups. They exorcised evil spirits, led the ceremonies held to propitiate the gods, and prescribed remedies for disease brewed from roots and herbs.

But the great cure-all resorted to in cases of desperate illness was the famous "sweat house."

These structures, found in every Digger village, were large and circular like huge muskrat houses. They were usually half below the ground and half above. In other words, in building them a hole was first excavated, and then covered with a roof of boughs plastered with mud. They had one opening in the side for entrance and another in the top for a chimney.

A fire was lighted in the center and the sick were placed inside to undergo a sweat bath for several hours, to be followed by a plunge into the ice-cold waters of a neighboring stream or pond. Whether the patient survived depended upon the nature of his illness and the strength of his constitution.

These sweat houses were also used as council chambers by the men of the village. According to one version, there used to be sweat houses in the Butano Valley near Pescadero, and the word "butano" is not Spanish, but Indian for sweat house. There is a Spanish word of the same spelling meaning "gourd."

Another version is that "butano" is the Indian term for "Valley of the Sun," and a third that it is a combined Spanish and Indian word meaning "turn," like a turn in the road. The last, furnished to this writer by old Spanish Joe, a withered pioneer of eighty years who lives on the beach near Pescadero, appears to be most logical, since Butano Creek does make several abrupt turns.

But the sweat house theory on the name has caused several interested persons to make a thorough search along the creek banks for traces of old sweat houses. To this writer's knowledge, none have been found.

Probably the best account of experiencing the tortures of one of these sweat houses, is given in a sketch by C. A. Menefee of Napa county, published in 1872. A daredevil who was tempted to take part in one of the ceremonies, tells what occurred:

"A sweat house is of the shape of an inverted bowl. It is generally about forty feet in diameter at the bottom, and is built of strong poles and branches of trees, covered with earth to prevent the escape of heat. When a dance is to occur a large fire is kindled in the center and about two dozen squaws and as many bucks take their places at either side of the fire.

"Simultaneously with the commencing of the shuffling dance, the music bursts forth and it is music fit to raise the dead. A whole legion of devils broke loose! Such screaming, shrieking, yelling, and roaring was never before heard since the foundation of the world. A thousand cross-cut saws, filed by steam power; a multitude of tom cats lashed together and flung over a clothes line; innumerable pigs produce a heavenly melody compared with it.

"Yet this uproar, deafening as it is, might possibly be endured; but another sense soon comes to be saluted. Talk of the thousand stinks of the city of Cologne! Here are at least forty thousand combined in one grand overwhelming stench. Round about the fire the Indians go capering, jumping and screaming, with the perspiration starting from every pore. The spectators look on until the air grows thick and heavy, and a sense of oppressive suffocation overcomes them.

"They rush frantically around the walls in hope of discovering some weak point through which they may find access, but the opening has been barred on the outside. There is no alternative but to sit down in hopes that the troop of naked fiends will soon cease from sheer exhaustion. The reeking atmosphere has become almost palpable, and the victimized audience is gasping for life.

After what seems an eternity the door is thrown open and the half-dead victims are plunged headlong into the cold waters of a nearby stream. They crawl out and sink down on the banks, completely exhausted. This is the last act of the drama, the great climax, and the fandango is over."

In addition to being a council chamber and banquet hall, the sweat house was sometimes used as a crematory, in which the bodies of the dead were burned, amid the howling of the survivors. Standing in the center of the Digger village, it was a symbol of all the superstition and ignorance of a primitive people.

THIS, LADIES, IS POPPAEA COIFFURE

Looks like blondes and red-heads may be giving way to dark haired damsels in motion pictures. This lacquered coiffure is worn by Claudette Colbert for her Empress Poppaea role in "The Sign of the Cross." It isn't recommended for afternoon wear, since the afternoon would be gone before the hair could be dressed.

Haldane, British Biologist to Be Heard Tuesday
J. B. S. Haldane, noted British scientist who is widely known for his popular interpretations of scientific subjects, will speak on "Bad Air" at a university assembly at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Stanford Assembly Hall, it was announced today by the university committee on public exercises.

The lecture is a story of adventures in mines, diving apparatus, submarines and with a variety of gases treated scientifically. It constitutes a study of problems in human physiology in some dangerous occupations, according to Haldane, and will be of particular interest to biologists, engineers and social workers. Haldane's talk tends to show how human biology comes into all sorts of problems in the concrete way.

Haldane, perhaps best known for his popular writings on science, which have appeared in numerous books and periodicals, is also a distinguished scientist. Among the positions that he holds are those of head of the genetic department at the John Innes Horticultural Institution at London, Fellow professor of physiology at the Royal Institution and Sir William Dunn reader in biochemistry at Cambridge University. He is also a fellow of the Royal Society. During the war he served as a captain in the Black Watch regiment.

Haldane will come to Stanford for his lecture following the completion of his Charles N. and Martha Hitchcock foundation lectures at the University of California. He came to America this summer to attend the International Genetics Congress.

Redwood City 25 Years Ago

More than $3000 was realized from the three-day fair sponsored last week in the Alhambra theatre by the Catholic church.

Capt. Harry Hallett, a former well-known resident of Woodside, passed away at Kings City Wednesday. He was the father of Harry and Joseph Hallett of Portola and Woodside.

West's famous white minstrel troupe will appear at the Alhambra Saturday night. Next week the company will start a long engagement in San Francisco.

The Peninsula Railway Company, which proposes to extend its line north from Palo Alto to San Mateo, has petitioned the city council of San Jose for permission to operate its cars on streets of the city. The existing line in San Jose is to be included in the system.

Next week the case of the northern county hog-ranchers comes up before the board of supervisors. Ranchers whose business has been encouraged there for many years are threatened with expulsion shortly, it is believed.

Engineer Bromfield of San Mateo has estimated the cost of four bridges to be constructed in that city at $28,000. Improvement of Baldwin avenue is to be undertaken at a cost of $7500, and $8000 will be spent in the extension of the sewer on E street.

School Closed At San Carlos For This Week

SAN CARLOS, Nov. 11.—With 53 children confined to their homes with influenza, the San Carlos school closed its doors Monday morning to remain closed throughout the week. Byron W. Case, principal of the school, stated: "Rather than spread the disease further through the school, the school board and the faculty members thought it best to close down for a week, in order that the attendance would not be pulled down further."

The "American Education Week" program which was scheduled for Wednesday evening with all classes of the San Carlos school taking part has been postponed indefinitely, according to Principal Byron W. Case.

At her home on Hillcrest drive, Mrs. William Lawrence, entertained the members of her bridge club several nights ago. Among the guests were Mesdames Joseph Nash, Robert Glynn, Joseph F. Brodie, Mrs. John Bran, Mrs. A. H. Sagehorn, Miss Kathryn Heint, Miss Marion Johnson and Miss Vera Boyd. Miss Boyd and Mrs. Glynn were announced as the holders of high scores.

Assist at Dinner
Mrs. Norman H. Martin, Mrs. Virgil C. Reed and Dr. William Gatchell were among those who assisted at the dinner given by the Ladies' Association of the Community Church last week.

The entrance to San Carlos from Holly street has been marked clearly by the erection of several large concrete pipes on both sides of the driveway. It was gratefully noticed this week. The California Concrete Products, through its local representative, Claude S. Sorenson, donated the pipe, and C. M. Beard, of the tectorium plant gave the tectorium wash.

A group of public-spirited citizens had previously put their heads together and decided that some marker should be placed at the eastern entrance to the town, and a large arrow was erected. This recent development makes it complete.

Mrs. Andrew Johnson of Chestnut street will be hostess to the members of her card club this week.

Etchings Exhibited
The joint exhibition of etchings and drypoints of the two peninsula artists, Nicholas Dunphy of San Carlos, secretary of the California Society of Etchers, and Louis Rogers of Burlingame, well known illustrator and etcher, was opened Saturday at the Studio Shop in Burlingame.

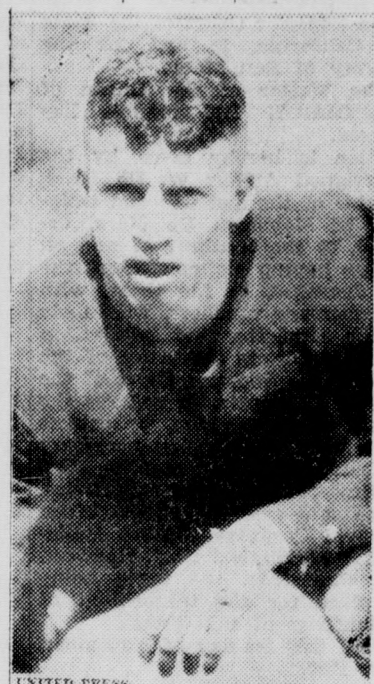

Dunphy has also exhibited his works in the Gump Art Gallery in San Francisco, as well as the art studio of Norman Record in San Carlos.

From San Carlos serving on the election boards this week were: Precinct No. 1, Dorothy A. Walker, Beulah White, Orville Offield, Margaret S. Stewart, Ethel M. Price; precinct No. 2, Ray Stevens, Louise Burd, Leland Beer, Raymond Schneider, William Gatchell, Effie C. Mahany; precinct No. 3, Mary J. Johnson, Harry Wilson, T. J. Visitation Water Investigation Set

The hearing will be before F. G. Stevenot, member of the railroad commission on November 22, 1932, in the city hall, South San Francisco.

PORTRAYER OF MOTHER ROLES DIES

Belle Bennett, who was ranked as one of the greatest character actresses in motion pictures, died in Hollywood after a lengthy illness. She rose to fame in numerous pictures in which she played the part of a mother, but her greatest triumph was in Stella Dallas, which made her the outstanding star of actresses who portray mother roles. Before entering pictures, she was a trapeze performer and later appeared in stage productions. Her death cast a pall of sorrow over Hollywood.
